

James O. Davis, 84, Marks SJA Carnival Ball Are Revealed

This will also be a highly anticipated event when the annual Carnival Ball, sponsored by the St. Joseph Academy, is presented at the Convention Center.

General splendor has been provided by Mrs. Gertrude Sauer and members of her committee. She gives much credit to Raymond, who did a great deal of the manual work in the construction of the setting for the ball.

It is reported that elegance of dress worn by members of the ball will exceed all previous years.

The king and queen, who will be crowned at 9 p.m. on Friday night, will have their coronation ceremony the following day.

CURTIS B. FAVRE IS CANDIDATE FOR CITY COMMISSIONER

Curtis B. Favre has announced his candidacy for City Commissioner of Bay St. Louis. His formal statement to the voters follows:

TO THE QUALIFIED VOTERS OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS

I would like to take this means of making my formal announcement for the office of City Commissioner of Bay St. Louis in the Special Election to be held on February 18, 1956.

After much consideration and thought, I have decided to seek the office with one desire in mind: TO BE AN INTEGRAL PART OF THE FUTURE PROGRESS OF BAY ST. LOUIS.

The office of City Commissioner is one of great responsibility and numerous duties.

In this capacity, a man must be a leader who can take part in and help direct the overall business of the city. His main interest must be in the city and its residence.

Keeping this in mind, it is with a deep sense of humility with which I feel that I am qualified to help turn the wheels to make Bay St. Louis move along in a forward direction.

I am a life-long resident of this city and a graduate of St. Stanislaus College. I am the son of the late A. G. Favre Sr. and Mrs. Inez Favre. I am a veteran of World War II, having spent 2 1/2 years in the U. S. Navy. After receiving an honorable discharge from the Armed Forces, I attended Southeastern La. College in Hammond, La., for a three year period.

There is an old age policy of pointing out a long list of promises in an announcement for a political office. But, I prefer to state clear of that trend, since without the office in hand, there is no basis for promises made.

I do not feel that the candidate of your choice should be selected because of his list of promises, but rather, because of his personal qualifications and his pledge to work toward the attainment of a high goal for your city.

I can assure you, that if I am elected I will serve you first and foremost to the best of my ability, or the betterment of Bay St. Louis and not for the benefit of a few individuals.

I will work willingly and tirelessly to help build a better and bigger community. I will not turn away from any problem, large or small, but will meet them head-on in an attempt to find the correct solution.

I sincerely request that on February 18 you consider by candidacy. Then compare the candidates in the race, think carefully and choose the man you feel most qualified to do a good job for our city.

Your decision will be my decision.

I rest my case in your hands. Thanking you for your consideration and support, I am, Respectfully yours,

CURTIS B. FAVRE

After Favre, who started work for the local Post Office July 1, was given a testimonial supper Friday night by his fellow workers, as a farewell gesture to his retirement.

He was born in Bay St. Louis in 1894, was in charge of the Post Office building which was erected in 1938.

Master, Fred Herlihy, said Favre discharged his duties in a satisfactory manner each year he received 100% from government inspectors.

Oct. 31, 1955 Favre was forced to retire following a coronary attack. He has been ill for several months. He was of several months. He was of several months. He was of several months.

Employees of the local post office and a number of railway mail employees joined in giving the retiring Favre. He was dressed in a suit and tie by his former associates.

Probation Period Set For SSC Following BHS Tournery Ruckus

BY CHRISTOPHER BELL

All school interscholastic activities at St. Stanislaus have been suspended by the Mississippi High School Activities Association until Sept. 1, when a probationary period begins, lasting until Jan. 27, 1957, according to Rockchaw basketball coach Herb Adams.

As a result of the suspension, the St. Stanislaus debate team was ineligible to participate in the South Mississippi tournament held yesterday at Mississippi Southern College in Hattiesburg.

The SSC debaters had recently won the district eight crown.

Also, the school's basketball team became ineligible for the sub-district A-A-A cage tournament this weekend at Perkinston.

The suspension was the outcome of a growth of two St. Stanislaus fans assaulting an official, Joe Culppepper, after the school was ejected from the Bay High basketball tournament Jan. 27.

W. B. Kenna, president of the MSHAA, told the EAGLE.

The incident occurred after St. Stanislaus' tourney game with St. Martin of Biloxi was forfeited by referee Culppepper after he had "warned the coach (Adams) on persisting in protesting from the bench," stated the report to the MSHAA.

Action was taken at an executive committee hearing held at the Hattiesburg Community Center Friday.

St. Stanislaus was originally suspended for one full year. However, a provision said that if the school reimbursed Culppepper for all hospital expenses the suspension would be changed to a probation period Sept. 1. Carl McQuagge, secretary of MSHAA for District Eight, said St. Stanislaus accepted the ruling and school officials had already stated, the expenses would be taken care of.

Coach Adams told the EAGLE that the incident took place "outside the gymnasium" and there was no way for St. Stanislaus officials to prevent it. Reached by telephone in Lexington, Kenna stated that the association holds the school responsible for the action of partisan fans. No students or players were involved.

Bay Police Chief Alcine Saucier, who witnessed the incident, declined to make a statement.

A probation period on Long Beach High was lifted Dec. 3 by the MSHAA, Kenna added.

The probationary period was given in 1954 when a Long Beach fan struck and knocked unconscious a football official, Paul Terrell, following the Long Beach-Notre Dame gridiron contest in Biloxi.

During the probationary period St. Stanislaus will be eligible for championships. However, it was St. Clare's HNS COMMUNION FEB. 12.

St. Clare's Holy Name Society will hold its official communion services this coming Sunday, Feb. 12. This month's intention is "Prayers for Officials in Public Life."

There will be a business meeting and a guest speaker immediately following breakfast. It will be held at the home of John Anderson.

Nab Man Leaving Beach Home; Recover Stolen Car, Other Loot

Jimmie LaVern Ivy, 20-year old white man of 4625 Palmyra St., New Orleans, was arrested Tuesday morning at 11:45 as he was reportedly attempting an exit from the B. H. Glass home on the Beach near Coleman Ave., Waveland.

He was said to have confessed to Constable Herman Mazarakis and Waveland Town Marshal Fred Bourgeois to entering and stealing from the Glass home.

Three pawn tickets were found on his person where articles missing from the home had been pawned at three different shops in New Orleans. He allegedly had entered the same house the preceding day and had returned for more loot on Tuesday.

An automobile parked outside the home, which is a summer residence of the Glass family and was unoccupied at the time, aroused the suspicions of Mazarakis and Bourgeois as they drove past. Ivy was caught in the yard of the home.

In a boat in the rear yard, a television set was found where he had apparently secreted it to pick it up later.

He readily confessed to having entered and stolen the articles missing from the premises, the officers declared.

An overcoat and some other belongings, the property of George V. Sherlock, Favre St., Waveland, also were found in the possession of Ivy. The Sherlock home had been entered previously.

Ivy denied having burglarized that residence, although the coat was positively identified by Sherlock as his property.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner was called in for the arrest.

The automobile driven to Waveland by Ivy was reported stolen from Dr. Williams George of Charity Hospital, after being parked at St. Ann and Royal sts. in New Orleans Feb. 4. The theft was reported to the New Orleans Police, and Coast officials had been alerted to watch for it.

Ivy claims he had talked with a friend of his, Bill Garrity, recently discharged from Angola prison in Louisiana, and that Garrity told him Waveland and Bay St. Louis were "easy pickings."

Ivy said that was why he came here.

Ivy, who is separated from his wife and baby, had been previously fined in police court for assault and battery.

He told officials here that he had stolen a fan from the home of his mother in Slidell and that he had pawned it and had a ticket on that.

He was also said to have confessed to having stolen a combination radio and phonograph from his wife, and that he also had the pawn ticket on it.

Missing from the Glass home were the RCA TV set which was found in the boat, a pair of field glasses, a Schick electric razor, a Winchester rifle, a radio, an army jacket and a blue shirt. The articles were all identified as belonging to the owner of the home.

Sheriff Ladner placed Ivy in the Hancock County jail pending his trial.

Woman, 95 Sun., Kin Of Famous Don

BY CAROLINE KIEFER

Ninety-five year old Mrs. Gabrielle Cuevas Hale celebrated her birthday Sunday at her N. Second St. home.

Born Feb. 5, 1861, Mrs. Hale is the last surviving grandchild of Don Juan Cuevas, Spanish Grantee who changed the course of history of the United States.

Don Juan, who in 1812 was in New Orleans on official business for Spain, was a great sportsman, and desired a hunting trip. The city of New Orleans provided him equipment, slaves, etc., and Cat Island in the Mississippi Sound was selected for the "shooting," as it abounded in game and the surrounding waters in fish.

The hunting party was on the island seeking game, the British Fleet was seeking the city of New Orleans. They stopped at the island and inquired of Don Cuevas the route to reach the city.

He refused to tell them, saying he was a guest of the city, and would not betray it. For this gallantry he was put in chains by the British.

But the delay proved fatal to the British. While they lost time with Don Cuevas on Cat Island, American troops arrived in New Orleans, and when the British fleet reached the city it was prepared for defense and saved from the British at the Battle of Chalmette.

As a reward for his loyalty to the city in which he had been a guest, the United States Government made a gift of Cat Island, free of taxation, to the noble Don.

Don Juan Cuevas later settled on the Mississippi Coast in Bay St. Louis, and built for his bride the home on N. Beach now owned by the Swoop family. Many of the household treasures which he brought from his native Spain are still in the home.

Don Cuevas was the paternal grandfather of Mrs. Hale. Her maternal grandfather, Judge Julos Monot of Franco, was the first judge and lawyer on the Mississippi coast. He built for his family the home next to that of Don Cuevas on N. Beach in Bay St. Louis, which is now owned by the deBen family.

It was in this house that Gabrielle Cuevas Hale was born 95 years ago.

Granddaughter of two of Mississippi's most distinguished men, she spent her entire life in Bay St. Louis with the exception of 18 years which were lived in Gulfport where her husband, the late Thomas P. Hale, was one of the pioneer railroad builders of South Mississippi.

From 1894 until 1912, he was vice president and general manager of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad, now the Illinois Central.

Mrs. Hale is the mother of six children, four of whom are surviving. One son, Thomas Hale of Huntsville, Ala., and three daughters, Mrs. W. S. Boggs of Long Beach and Miss Irma and Mary Hale of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Hale has six grandchildren, among whom is Hale, a distinguished Congressman from Louisiana. There are also 13 great-grandchildren.

Last Sunday this venerable gentleman who has lived through almost a century of radical change in the world, received many of the immediate family at home on N. Second St. This week open house is being for her by her two daughters, Irma and Mary Hale, each with her family.

SET AS GOAL OF NATIONAL GUARD RECRUITING DRIVE

A recruiting goal of 25 has been set for Company C, 890th Engr. Bn., Bay St. Louis, in the one-day membership drive of the National Guard set for February 22.

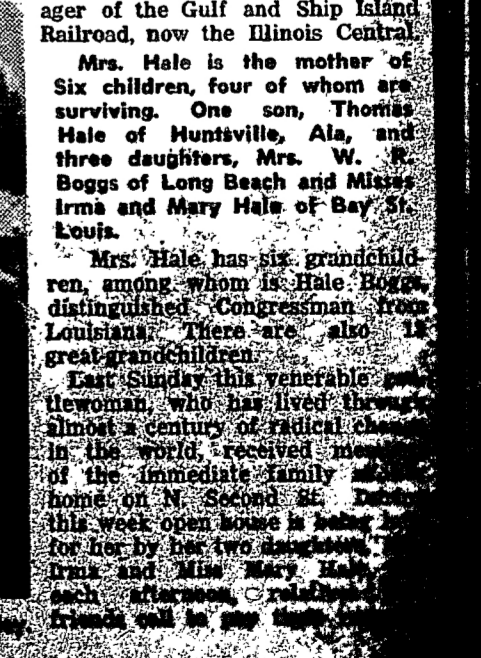

In announcing the goal, Lt. Kingston said particular emphasis would be placed on reaching the parents of prospective recruits.

"The young man of today is not going to decide on so important a matter as his Military future without leaning heavily on the advice of his parents," Lt. Kingston said.

Through enlistment in the National Guard, Lt. Kingston said, a young man can receive his military training while serving with his friends at home, can earn extra money and build up a retirement pension, and has an opportunity to learn new skills which can be valuable to him in civilian life.

Besides his instruction in soldiering and many technical fields, the Guardsman can attend regular Army service schools and receive pay while doing so. Also, home-study extension courses can be taken, opening the way to faster promotions.

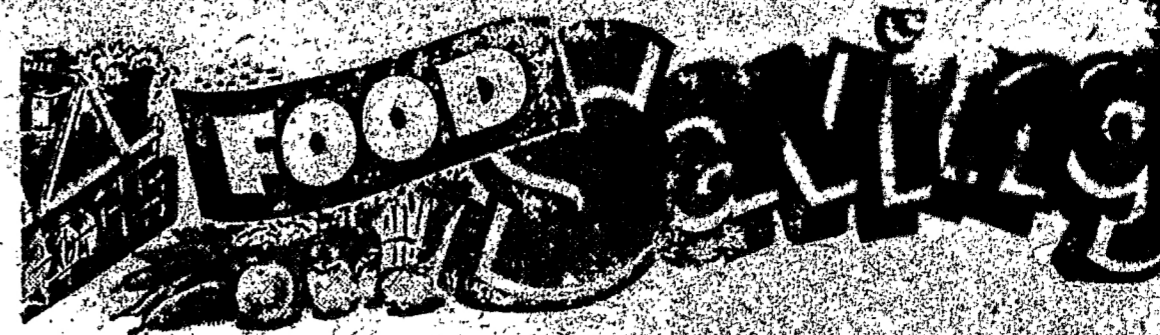

For further information on their sons' careers in the National Guard, parents are invited to visit the Guard armory on the day of the recruiting drive. Special arrangements have been made for Guard personnel to answer in detail all questions relative to enlistment.

Hancock County Forestry Association Organized

Hire Detectives; Estimate $80,000 Damage To Timber Crop

Detectives have been hired by the newly formed Hancock County Forestry Association to investigate the recent woods fires which burned over 10,000 acres of timberland.

These fires did an estimated $80,000 damage to the timber crop in Hancock County.

It is also anticipated that the FBI will be brought in to help apprehend the criminals.

Deliberate Woods Burning Is A Felony

H. B. No. 120; Sec 1, Chap 222 Laws of 1954

If any person willfully, maliciously, and feloniously sets on fire any woods, meadow, marsh, field or prairie, not his own, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall, upon conviction, be sentenced to the state penitentiary for not more than two (2) years nor less than one (1) year, or fined not less than two hundred dollars ($200.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or both, in the discretion of the court.

Forest Fire Losses

To Hancock County's timberland owners are greater than most people realize. The future of our number one industry, forest products, is not bright unless growing timber replaces that which is used. So long as forest fires continue to claim great portions of our young timber this source of cash to Hancock County shall be in danger.

The wishes of the majority of Hancock County's people are expressed in the passing of laws governing all of the people. Those who act against these laws are therefore acting against the best interests of the people with whom they live. The hunter who thoughtlessly drops a match, starting a forest fire on land he does not own is violating the law and is liable for his actions. The farmer who burns his field and lets it get into someone else's woods has broken the law.

In short, anyone who, thoughtlessly or otherwise, causes fire damage to property of another without his consent has broken the law and is liable civilly, criminally, or both.

Association Objectives

A group of forestry-minded people of Hancock County met at the Agricultural Building recently and organized a Hancock County Forestry Association.

The Association set forth its objectives as follows:

1. To advance the cause of forestry and to promote the scientific utilization of raw materials of forests and farms.
2. To assist in securing better county forest fire protection.
3. To assist in determining and securing adoption of a proper forest policy.
4. To arouse public interest in the utilization and conservation of the county forest and agricultural crops.
5. To stimulate the support and enforcement of the wild life laws including aid in the apprehension of any person or persons setting woods fires.

Parties interested in becoming members of the Association, please contact the County Agent, Howard Simmons, or the County Forester, Marion T. Parker.

WAVELAND

WANDERINGS

by

GEORGETTE B. HALL

Mr. and Mrs. George Digby have just returned from a "Kids Baseball Clinic" in Baton Rouge, La. Among the famous baseball personalities who were present were Mel Ott, Ted Lyons, Harry Kuenn and Al Kaline.

The clinic was most successful and was thoroughly enjoyed by the Digbys. To interest the youth of our community in baseball, Mr. Digby brought back with him a baseball autographed by many baseball notables. The ball will be on display in both Waveland and Bay St. Louis and will be presented to the Waveland School. Donations will be greatly appreciated and the money received by the school will be put into the Uniform Fund for the payment of basketball uniforms for both boys' and girls' teams.

We're all proud of our Waveland youngsters and want them to make as nice an appearance on the basketball court as the teams they play.

Last week when the teams met Bay High in the Bay High gym, the boys on the Waveland team were sporting their new suits and really looked like a well organized and well equipped group.

The girls are still wearing blouses and bloomers which need to be discarded for more modern outfits.

The new uniforms will go a long way to boosting the morale of the team and its supporters. Make it your business to see the baseball with the autographs of some of baseball's "greats" inscribed on it. Some lucky youngster will soon be able to call it his own.

Thanks to the alertness of Marshall Fred Bourgeois and Herman Mazarakis many valuable articles and pieces of furniture from the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Glass on Beach Boulevard in Waveland are still intact.

While patrolling the beach front about 11 a.m. Tuesday morning the two men noticed a strange car at the Glass residence. After questioning it was discovered that the home was being robbed. The thief was driving a stolen car from New Orleans and was working with accomplices. One man was caught and arrested and is being held in Bay St. Louis for questioning.

Friends of Mr. Charles Macauso of New Orleans and Waveland are sorry to hear of his illness and hospitalization in a New Orleans hospital.

Mrs. David Dalgren and children spent the week end in New Orleans.

Mrs. Roger Bordages and Mrs. Laura Carrio motored with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nelson to Baton Rouge on Sunday. The Nelsons visited their family. Mrs. Carrio and Mrs. Bordages visited the Ed Carrio family. The group returned Sunday evening.

Sympathy is extended to the Rev. Charles Schultz upon the death of his sister. The Rev. Mr. Schultz and his family are well known in Bay St. Louis and Waveland where the minister served both Methodist churches.

Boys' and girls' basketball teams from the Waveland School made the trip to Logtown Tuesday evening in the school bus where both teams played the Logtown cagers. In spite of hard and improved playing, both teams couldn't eke out a victory and the Logtown teams came out on top.

Big doings are being planned in Bay St. Louis next Tuesday, Mardi Gras Day. There will be a parade and a Carnival Ball in the Bay High gym. The local Mardi Gras has grown during the past few years until many people come from surrounding areas to see and enjoy the colorful floats and general funmaking.

Miss Mary Perkins, principal of the Waveland School, and other members of the school's faculty, Mary Margaret and Cecile Turcotte and Mrs. E. Mazarakis announce that the following students are on the school Honor roll for the third six weeks:

FIRST GRADE—Gerald Barber, Sheldon Bourgeois, Johnny DiSilva, Dickie Ladner, Elaine Bourgeois, Margene Carter, Joy Carver, Ida Stieffel, Emily Yarborough.

SECOND GRADE—Virginia Carter, Mary Elaine Yarborough, Mary Frances Yarborough.

THIRD GRADE—James Ladner, Roxanne Reynolds, Stanley Weidman.

FOURTH GRADE—Carolyn Bourgeois, Edna Bourgeois, Wallace Bourgeois, Lynn Hoggins, Mary Beth Ladner.

FIFTH GRADE—Elizabeth Dahlgren.

SIXTH GRADE—David Peterson, David Dahlgren, Paula Crider.

SEVENTH GRADE—James Mayfield.

EIGHTH GRADE—Lynne Hall.

Southern Samplers

After mid-term exams at the University of Miami, Jerry Blum, a local lad, decided the only thing to do was to take out for the open Atlantic, which he proceeded to do in a small, one-man boat. Accompanied by his roommate, Herbert Volbert of Union, New York, Jerry set paddle across Bay US Highway 1, which was encountered shortly after navigating the university's little lake.

Asphalt being unnegotiable, so to speak, for a cypress paddle, the boys heaved ho with both paddles and canoe, trudged across the busy roadway and found another stream.

On this they glided nonchalantly along, passing various fishermen, who were forthwith astonished to hear the query: "Are we headed for the Atlantic?"

On being assured that this was all too true, the adventures continued on, and were rewarded shortly thereafter by the sound of the surf.

Once launched into the ocean, they found the backwash somewhat stronger than their paddle power; and this, together with the fact that both were still garbed in street clothing, threw something of a damper on things. So they decided to pull their paddles and call it a trip, letting the incoming waves lift them shoreward.

It was a pretty nice excursion, according to Jerry; and nicer still to learn afterward that mid-term exams were passed with flying colors by both the wanderers.

Well, I never thought I'd come to chasing monkeys early on a Sunday morning. But hardly had the cock crow—crow—crowed. I guess—hardly had the cock crowed when the dog and cat set up such a howling and barking I finally had to get up to see what in the world was coming over everybody; and there was my simian friend, swinging lazily from a tree limb.

I went after him, but by the time I got up the tree you monkey had skipped trees, peering across at me now from around a hank of moss hanging in a nearby oak. Real bright-eyed!

It didn't take me long to realize I'd have to figure out some better way—so back into the house, where I found the bananas put up for breakfast cereal—and out again to the new star boarder.

With eyes aglitter he came closer and closer, finally jumped the gun on me and made off with half a banana. I just waited, and greed being what it is, monkey came back for more. I had by now set the rest of the banana on a chair in the shed, where monkey soon found himself a prisoner.

Seems the simian belongs to young "Chico" Thrasher, who'd been searching for him since Saturday. As far as I know he's still at liberty, though, having zipped out of the shed when "Chico" opened it to get him.

February 17, 1956

A day of prayer begun by a small group of US women seventy years ago will be marked by millions of Christians around the globe in services dedicated to world peace and understanding.

On Friday, the World Day of Prayer will be observed in more than 20,000 US communities and in more than 134 other countries on almost every continent and island.

At services circling the earth for more than 24 hours, people of all ages and races will pray in more than a thousand languages and dialects for understanding among the nations of the world. And with their prayers will go offerings of money and material goods to help relieve human need and suffering wherever it exists.

In the United States alone last year, World Day of Prayer offerings provided more than $400,000 for co-operative Christian ministries in health, education, and welfare at home and abroad.

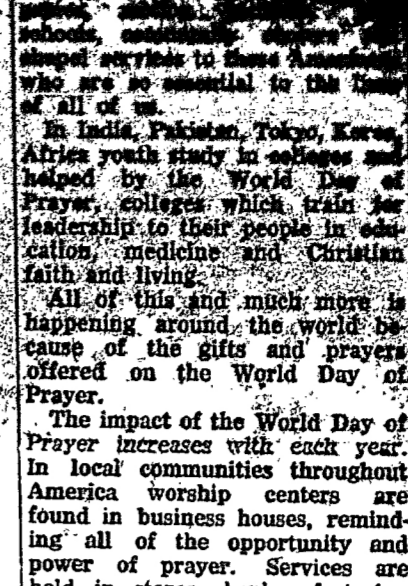

Sponsored in the United States by United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of Churches, the program is prepared each year by an author from one of the 134 co-operating countries. This seventh year is marked by a service written by American Indian leaders from the Cook Training School in Phoenix, Arizona.

The theme, "One flock, one shepherd," it abounds in the picturesque and expressive language of the lessons in tree and leaf, in a people living close to nature, in the winds in the sunset. Its call is from "The Mighty One, God the Lord who speaks and summons the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting," to a oneness that alone can bring peace.

In the theme and the far-flung call can be seen an analogy to the story of a shepherd on a lonely ranch in America's west. His violin, the only close companion during long winter evenings, was out of tune, and try as he would, the shepherd could not return it. He wrote to one of the national radio networks and asked if, on a certain evening when their orchestra was scheduled to broadcast, they would have the first violinist sound the "A" so he could bring his own instrument into harmony again.

The designated night arrived across the miles from the city, to the isolated farmhouse went the message, "Stand by for the 'A' and join us in Beethoven's 'Pastorale Symphony,' which we are tonight dedicating to a shepherd in Montana."

The great maestro sounded the "A" several times, and then the orchestra led into the symphony. The shepherd caught the tone, brought his violin into key and

February 17, 1956

In a moment, as his skill permitted, was blending the notes from his instrument to the harmonies of the orchestra.

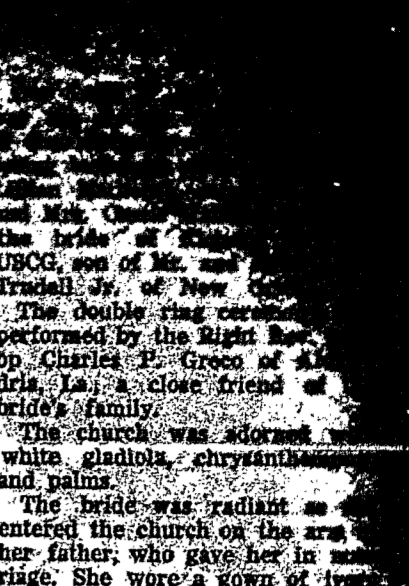

Out over a globe-encircling network goes the "spirit of the World Day of Prayer." From it the peoples of the earth who "tune in" can get the true note and can bring their lives into closer harmony with the Great Maestro and with their fellow men. Each of us acknowledges that there is undue discord in the world, a world that has in it the making of a great symphony. But symphonies take constant keeping in tune, and they take hard work.

Here is revealed the second purpose of the World Day of Prayer beyond the spiritual fellowship. It is the desire to work and to help others that comes as a result of study, prayer and fellowship. This expresses itself in an offering, poured out on behalf of many needs.

Women and children and their menfolk, having recently learned to read, eagerly pore over magazines that help direct them on child care, sanitation and gardening. They read in Spanish, Hindi, Mayan, Arabic, Persian, Hindi, and other languages.

Young women come and go from buildings that are new. And it is a new fact that in Africa women have an equal opportunity with men in getting an education. The World Day of Prayer offerings have helped make possible the Women's Center at the Protestant Medical Institute at Kimpese in the Congo.

The Harvester has come to be a symbol of joy and friendship to the children of migratory farm laborers and to the parents. Twenty-two of these station wagons seek out the camps of America's fruit

February 17, 1956

The impact of the World Day of Prayer increases with each year. In local communities throughout America worship centers are found in business houses, reminding all of the opportunity and power of prayer. Services are held in stores, banks, factories, and open fields, as well as in chapels, churches and cathedrals. The reign of God is proclaimed. One God, who speaks to all races and tribes—one God, one shepherd and one flock.

The observance becomes a unifying force in local communities and has its contributing power in the building of world community.

The chain of prayer will be begun at daybreak in the Fiji and Tonga Islands, just west of the international date line. The sun, as it reaches us on this special day, will have a special radiance and a special message for those who are prepared to tune in to the prayer circuit and listen for the divine note that strikes the tone of "oneness" that can bring harmony to a discordant world. Every one of us has a part to play. Are we in tune?

A UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL PICTURE

TO THE QUALIFIED VOTERS OF BAY ST. LOUIS

Since I announced my candidacy for the unexpired term of Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr. former Commissioner of the City of Bay St. Louis in the Sea Coast Echo (February 3, 1956) it has been maliciously rumored that the political "BOSS" of the city of Bay St. Louis is supporting me in this endeavor.

I wish to make it known, here and now that no faction (except my family and friends, that is) has endorsed or offered to endorse my candidacy, particularly those now in power in the city.

I will not deny that I was foolhardy enough to approach these individuals with the idea that there may be a possibility that I would receive their support. BUT

In my recent announcement, I made no promises. But, I will promise you this, "I WILL NOT KNOWINGLY ACCEPT THE SUPPORT OF ANY SO CALLED POLITICAL BOSS AND WILL RUN FOR THIS OFFICE WITH ONLY THE THOUGHTS OF SELF-ADVANCEMENT AND THE FURTHERANCE OF THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS."

I leave you with this thought in mind, "your political 'BOSS' is a man who stated that he would be content to sit on the 'FENCE' this time and wait for the outcome of the election."

I also wish to announce that I have terminated my services with the Sea Coast Echo, effective February 7, 1956, and am in no way affiliated with the newspaper or its organization.

Thanking you for your kind consideration and support, I remain,

Sincerely,
CURTIS B. FAVRE
